

Sample “I didn’t know that...” Fact Page

I didn’t know that sharks have six senses.
The sixth sense is “electroreception.”

Fact: Sharks use electroreception to locate prey they cannot find with their other senses. Hundreds of tiny pores in their heads, called ampullae, pick up small electrical signals that all living creatures give off. These signals guide the shark to its prey at close range.