

JOB TASK

It is never too soon to think about the future! Students, in just a few short years, you will become life long learners and workers; it is important for you to know about yourselves, your abilities, and your interests in order to fulfill your working potential.

This unit will start you thinking about careers that you might find satisfying, what you can do now to start to get the skills you will need, and what education and skills you will need in the future.

Your task is to thoroughly research three careers that you think you might like to have as an adult. After your data collection, you will be asked to complete a resume and write a persuasive letter to the company of your choice explaining why you are the best candidate for the job you are seeking. These are skills that you will need many times in the future. It is important that you become familiar with them now.

At the end of the study it is hoped that you will begin to plan for the future by deciding which high school courses will lead you to your career choice, what internships or volunteer positions you might do now to start you in the right direction, and what training or other education that you will need before you start your career.
